Palmer College of Chiropractic is committed to high standards of ethical, moral and legal business conduct. As such, the College encourages all faculty, staff, students and others conducting business with the College, acting in good faith, to report suspected or actual improper conduct.

The College is committed to protecting individuals from interference with making a protected disclosure and from retaliation for having made a protected disclosure or for having refused an order of improper conduct as defined in this policy. Employees and students may not directly or indirectly use or attempt to use the official authority or influence of their positions or offices for the purpose of interfering with the right of an individual to make a protected disclosure to the individual's immediate supervisor or other appropriate College official.

Therefore, the College encourages employees, faculty, students and others to follow the guidance set forth in this policy to report any and all allegations of suspected improper conduct. 1. Encourages individuals to disclose suspected improper conduct engaged in by others to the appropriate College official(s) so that prompt, corrective action can be taken by the College;

3. Protects individuals from reprisal by adverse employment action or other retaliation as a result of having disclosed suspected improper conduct (individuals who self report their own improper conduct are not afforded protection by this policy); and
4. Provides individuals who believe they have been subject to reprisal or false allegations a fair process to seek relief from such acts.

REPORTING ALLEGATIONS OF SUSPECTED IMPROPER CONDUCT

PREPARING A REPORT

The College encourages reports of allegations of improper conduct to be made in writing, so that there is a clear understanding of the issues raised. Oral reports may be made. Reports should focus on facts, and avoid speculation and drawing conclusions. Such reports shall include as much specific information as possible which will facilitate the evaluation of the nature, extent and urgency of preliminary investigative procedures.

FILING A REPORT

1. Employees of the College should report allegations of improper conduct to a College official whom the reporting person may reasonably expect to have either responsibility over the affected area or the authority to review the alleged improper conduct on behalf of the College. Reports may also be made to the Chief Compliance Officer, Chancellor, Vice Chancellors, or campus Presidents.
2. The College recommends that persons who are not employees of the College make reports to the Chief Compliance Officer. Such reports may be made to another College official whom the reporting person may reasonably expect to have either responsibility over the affected area or the authority to review the alleged improper conduct on behalf of the College.

REPORTS TO THE CHIEF COMPLIANCE OFFICER

The Chancellor, Vice Chancellors, campus Presidents and any College officials who receive a report alleging improper conduct shall promptly report the matter to the Chief Compliance Officer. Such College officials must document an oral report with a written summary of the oral report.

The Chief Compliance Officer in consultation with the reporting College official shall determine which matters can be reviewed under the authority of the College official responsible over the affected area, under the authority of the Chief Compliance Officer or referred to the jurisdiction of another appropriate process recognized by the College.

TIME LIMITS TO REPORT

The allegations of suspected improper conduct must be reported as soon as possible and no later than one(1) year after the event(s) giving rise to the allegation, unless there is good cause to explain the delay.

REPORTING FALSE CLAIMS

A whistleblower who makes a claim under this policy in bad faith, or knows or has reason to know that such claim is false or materially inaccurate, shall be subject to disciplinary action up to and including termination.

REPORTS TO THE OFFICE OF THE CHANCELLOR AND OTHERS

1. The Chief Compliance Officer shall have principal responsibility for reporting to the Chancellor and administrators or, if circumstances warrant, to the Audit Committee of the Board of Trustees;

CONFIDENTIALITY

1. Whistleblowers frequently make their reports in confidence. To the extent possible within limitations of law and policy, and the need to conduct a thorough investigation, confidentiality shall be maintained. Whistleblowers should be cautioned their identity may be known for reasons beyond the control of the investigators or College administrators. Whistleblowers should be prepared to be interviewed by investigators. If there is a self-disclosure by the Whistleblower, the College is no longer obligated to maintain confidentiality.
2. The identity of the subject(s) of the investigation shall be maintained in confidence subject to the same limitations.

ANONYMITY

Because of the inherent difficulty in investigating and resolving allegations from unidentified persons, the College discourages individuals from making anonymous complaints. However, should the College receive an anonymous complaint; the complaint will be reviewed by the College to determine, at its sole discretion, the appropriateness and/or feasibility of a response. An anonymous report must include sufficient corroborating evidence to justify initiating an investigation.

PROTECTION AGAINST RETALIATION

1. Whistleblowers and others who make protected disclosures in good faith shall not be retaliated against in any manner, with the intent of adversely affecting the terms or conditions of employment/enrollment and shall be protected from such retaliation by the College. This protection from retaliation is not intended to prohibit supervisors, administrators or faculty from taking action, including disciplinary action, in the usual scope of their duties and based upon valid performance-related factors.
2. Whistleblowers and others who believe they are the subject of prohibited retaliation shall promptly report such actions, in writing, to the Chief Compliance Officer.
