Statement from Palmer College of Chiropractic about Planned Institutional District

In 2017, the city of Davenport asked Palmer College of Chiropractic to work with city planners to develop a Planned Institutional District (PID), which would outline possible campus improvement plans for the next 10 years. We're pleased to now have approval to move ahead.

Throughout the process, Palmer has hosted multiple "information sessions" with our neighbors and other stakeholders. Those sessions provided valuable information. We appreciate their input and look forward to continuing the dialogue with neighbors and stakeholders as plans take shape. We'd also like to thank the City Council for its support. And we'd like to recognize the city staff. At every turn, city staff members demonstrated a commitment to an objective process, open communication and professionalism.

Palmer College is enthusiastic about future improvements and looks forward to enhancing its Quad-Cities campus to the benefit of its students, employees and community neighbors.
