

Biography – Peter Martin

PETER MARTIN, D.C., FPAC, PRESIDENT, PALMER FLORIDA CAMPUS (PORT ORANGE, FLA.)

Peter Martin, D.C., graduated from the British College of Naturopathy and Osteopathy in 1964, then earned his Doctor of Chiropractic degree from Palmer College of Chiropractic in 1968. He served in faculty and administrative positions at Palmer College and Los Angeles College of Chiropractic from 1968 to 1978.

He owned a chiropractic equipment and supplies business for the next four years, and had a private practice in Lancaster, Calif., from 1982 to 2000. Dr. Martin was president of Palmer College's West campus in San Jose, Calif., from 1992 to 2000, when he accepted a position as dean of the College of Naturopathic Medicine at the University of Bridgeport. He returned to the West campus in 2004 as interim president and was named president in February 2005. In July 2005, he assumed the additional duties of president of Palmer's Florida campus in Port Orange, Florida. Since 2006, he's served as president of the Florida campus exclusively.

Dr. Martin is a past president of the Council on Chiropractic Education and the California Chiropractic Association and is a former board member of the Association of Chiropractic Colleges. He was named a Fellow in the Palmer Academy of Chiropractic in 1994.
