

Biography – McLean, Ian

IAN D. MCLEAN, D.C., FPAC, DACBR, DIRECTOR OF CLINICAL RADIOLOGY, MAIN CAMPUS (DAVENPORT, IOWA)

Ian McLean (EE-uhn mack-LAYN), D.C., DACBR, is director of clinical radiology and the Radiology Residency Program at Palmer College's main campus in Davenport, Iowa. He's also a radiologist for Palmer Imaging Consultation Services. Dr. McLean earned a Diplomate from the American Chiropractic Board of Radiology and has undergone extensive MRI training.

He presents seminars worldwide and is a member of the American Chiropractic Association and the Iowa Chiropractic Society. He's the author of numerous publications, including serving as a contributing author to Dr. Dennis Marchiori's "Clinical Imaging with Skeletal, Chest and Abdomen Differentials," used in the curriculums of most chiropractic colleges. He was named a Fellow in the Palmer Academy of Chiropractic in 2010.